COURAGEOUS CONVERSATIONS

Brené Brown, PhD, LMSW, author of Dare to Lead: Brave Work, Tough Conversations and Whole Hearts, says "Courageous conversations mean having the courage to show up when you can't control the outcome."

I invite you to join us for courageous conversations when you need it during these unpredictable and unprecedented times when things are changing daily – sometimes even hourly!

These conversations are a time to allow you to virtually gather with other Early Childhood Educators to share what is on your heart or to seek support. We may not have all of the answers, but we do have a compassionate heart for the incredible work each of you are doing during these stressful times.

If this sounds helpful to you, please join us for any or all of our conversations this week. No need to sign up – just click on the link when you're ready to join.

These conversations will be held on the simple and excellent Zoom Video conferencing platform. We think it's important to see each other, but if you prefer to not be on video, that is also an option. Information on how to join a Zoom meeting can be found here and information on how to use the controls can be found here.
